REPORT, 1899.

In presenting our Report of this year's work, ^{Report.} we venture to hope that it will not only receive a kindly welcome from old and tried friends, but that it will eventually gain a wider circle of readers.

The work of the Association has, within the ^{Growth of Work.} last few years assumed very large proportions. It has become both National and International. Many questions arose which have required much thought and consideration from the representatives of the various Committees. Hence the necessity was felt for a Central Controlling Body, and this was the origin of a conjoint Committee, composed of the President and Vice-President of the Association, the entire Gentlemen's Committee, the Presidents and Hon. Secretaries of the various Branch Committees, and others.

That the importance of the work, extending over a very wide area, is now duly acknowledged, has been proved without a doubt: we may mention as examples more than one occasion, where both the Preventive and Rescue Branches of the Association were prominently brought before deeply attentive and representative audiences.

Public Meetings. In March of 1899, at a Meeting for the T.A.S., held at the Speaker's house—the Speaker being in the chair, and the room packed with a great concourse of people—both the Hon. Secretary of this Association, and Mr. F. Lucas, as Treasurer of the T.A.S., were allowed to speak at length and very fully, concerning the work at the Docks, the efforts to protect innocent girls, and the attempts of the Association to punish traffickers. Again in June, at a most comprehensive and brilliant gathering of the International Congress, under the auspices of the National Vigilance Association, who met to discuss the White Slave Traffic, the position taken by the Jewish Community in regard to this painful subject was forcibly dealt with by the Chief Rabbi, and both the Hon. Secretary of this Association and Mr. Moro, were invited to speak, and were listened to with respectful attention. Moreover, Mr. Alex. Coote, the well-known Secretary of the National Vigilance Association, said at the conclusion of the opening ceremony:

National Vigilance Association.

“ My Committee wish it to be understood that there are Associations conducted by Jewish brethren, working continuously to put down this white slave traffic. We have worked in most friendly co-operation for years with Mr. Moro and the Chief Rabbi. Much of this present success has been the outcome of our mutual conference as to the best action to be taken. I mention this so that in the future formation of the National Committees in their respective countries you may welcome the co-operation of our Jewish Brethren. No stronger demonstration of their interest and earnestness in connection with their work can be shown than the fact that they voluntarily voted £200 towards the expenses of this Congress."*

Coming at such a time when the Jews in many parts of Europe were suffering from violent anti-semitism, the Meeting, from its comprehensive and liberal character, was a very remarkable one; it gave full and public testimony to the fact, that if the Jews unfortunately supply their share of brothel keepers and bullies, they are equally ready to expend money, time, energy and devotion upon combating to the death a gigantic evil. And their efforts in this direction receive grateful recognition from the people amongst whom they live; as a proof, we have only to note the fact that several members of the Jewish Community, some of them connected with this Association, were cordially invited to become members of the London Council for the Promotion of Public Morality, whose Chairman is the Bishop of London. In the face of such facts, we feel that we must strain every nerve if we wish to succeed at all in our painful work; we must bring to it all the earnestness and resolution that we possess, and claim forgiveness if we ask for renewed and increased subscriptions and for a further list of subscribers. We are averse to making ever recurring demands upon our original kind donors, we want further help and new supporters.

Our needs. We do indeed require an additional income of at least £250 with which to carry on our work in a satisfactory manner, and we do not feel that in asking for this sum, we are making a very extravagant request. In order not to have had recourse either to a bazaar or to a musical entertainment wherewith to raise funds, we were driven during the last year to make an appeal to our subscribers of a very modest nature. A donation of five shillings was asked for from each old subscriber, and if possible a further donation of five shillings to be obtained from a new one. A generous response was the result, amounting in all to £357. Of this sum, £65 10s. were given in memory of our lamented colleague, Mrs. Owen Pike, viz. :—

A request and response. £50 by Mrs. D. L. Beddington.
£5 5s. by Mr. L. Owen Pike.

£5 5s. by Mrs. Horatio Micholls.

£5 by Mrs. Montefiore Micholls.

£10 10s. were given in memory of Mrs. Nathan Joseph, so long and so ably connected with our work, by her husband, Mr. Nathan Joseph.

£100 were contributed by our generous friend and supporter, Mrs. L. Lucas.

£25 by our President.

We may congratulate ourselves upon having ^{New Subscribers.} gained twenty-one new subscribers, against the seven we had lost in the last twelve months; but funds are wanted, urgently, quickly, or our work may be paralysed.

We have had some great expenses which have not been productive of the results we hoped for: thus, we have had to spend £82 from the General Fund upon the Home connected with the Special Aid Branch, but we deemed it wise to close that Home (Blythe House) in July, as it did not sufficiently answer its purpose. We did not feel justified in attempting to grapple with this branch of the work on existing funds, although the reasons were valid for starting it. But we do not yet despair of taking rooms or a house nearer the Docks, where casual or doubtful cases may be admitted, such as are not fit for either of our Homes.

Liverpool Branch.

In the Report of the Gentlemen's Committee will be found an account of the initial steps taken to encourage the formation of a Society in Liverpool, with aims and purposes similar to this Association. It is not out of order, however, to mention here, that the Hon. Secretary, on a visit to that city in the month of November last, which she made in company with Lady Frances Balfour, President of the T.A.S., received the Committee of the Jewish Association for Preventive Work, and had the honour of formally introducing the members to the Liverpool Committee of the T.A.S., with the suggestion that the Jewish Committee should be represented on that of the T.A.S.* Subsequently at an influential Public Meeting, with the Lord Mayor in the chair (it was the Anniversary Meeting of the Liverpool Branch of the T.A.S.), the Hon. Secretary was empowered to bring the work of the Jewish Association, both in Liverpool and in London, fully before the audience, and she was able to instance as an example of the necessity of such committees at the ports, that three Jewish traffickers had been traced with their victims from Manchester to Liverpool, and had been arrested and sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment. (The Hon. Secretary saw the convicts on the following day when she was visiting the prison.)

The Members of the Jewish Committee, as well as the Lady Mayoress elect (Mrs. Cohen), had all courteously responded to the invitation of attending the Public Meeting by appearing in person, and there is no doubt that this new Society will be stimulated to further zeal and activity by such public acknowledgments of their efforts.

That friends, active friends and supporters, are greatly wanted, it is needless to urge; in work that touches Prevention, Rescue, and the Law, the lack of funds means stagnation, and sometimes defeat.

(Signed)

E. L. ROTHSCHILD, President.

CONSTANCE BATTERSEA,
Vice-President and Hon. Sec.

* * It is felt that the work of this Association should be more widely known and its support be increased. The Committee, therefore, earnestly hope that members will kindly make all possible effort to persuade others to join the Association.

A subscription slip is sent with this Report, which, after being filled in, should be returned in the enclosed addressed envelope.

REPORT OF THE GENTLEMEN'S COMMITTEE.

The work done during 1899 greatly exceeds the record of any previous year. From the statistics which follow it will be seen that a much larger number of girls have been protected at the Port, while the special cases coming under the care of this Committee have more than doubled in number. Great efforts have been made to awaken interest in the work among the Jewish Communities in the provinces and abroad. The Committee are glad to say that these efforts have met with encouraging success, and that the scope of their International Work has also been considerably extended.

Work at the Port. In reviewing the work done at the Port of London it is not possible this year to give reliable figures regarding the numbers of ships met, or of the steerage passengers they carried. Exact particulars are wanting owing to the long and serious illness of the Senior Dock Agent during the first half of the year. The total number of unprotected girls assisted by the Dock Agents in 1899 amounted to 655.

Of these, 145 were left at the Home of the Association, and 510 were personally conducted to various destinations, a record of their names and addresses having been duly kept. 70 were Christian girls, who were given all the immediate help and care they needed, and then were taken to the Travellers' Aid Society in accordance with the understanding, which for many years has existed, between that Society and this Association. The results of 1899 compared with the results of 1898 and 1897 are as follow:—

Total number of unprotected girls assisted	655	364	315
Girls left at the Home in default of destinations, or because of imperfect addresses	145	93	60
Girls conducted to ships, railway stations, or to addresses in London	510	271	255
Non-Jewesses assisted (included in the above figures)	70	41	30
Unprotected children assisted (ages varying from 3½ to 12)	25

It is worthy of note that these girls cannot be classed as destitute. Those conducted to their destinations defrayed all expenses incurred on their behalf such as boat money, portorage of luggage, and conveyances, while of the 124 who received board and lodgings at the Home, 66 per cent. paid in full and 11 per cent. paid in part.

Subscribers anxious to know what became of the 145 girls left at the Home will find the particulars by turning to the annexed report of the Lodging House Committee. It will also be seen, by reading the report of the Visiting Committee, that the safety and welfare of the girls taken to London addresses have not been neglected.

Non-subscribers who may chance to read this Report will probably ask why it is necessary to take so much care. It is, therefore, desirable to explain that all these girls were travelling alone; they were ignorant of the language and customs of this country and, what was still worse, were ignorant of the dangers awaiting them at the Port. The river-side landing stairs, the docks, and the railway stations, are still frequented by men and women who are there looking out for such girls. They speak their language and, by misrepresentations, often gain their confidence. On the pretence of safe escort to their destinations or to the ocean steamers by which the girls would continue their journey to other countries, they take them to houses of ill-fame. Once entrapped, escape is almost impossible. Subscribers have therefore the great satisfaction of knowing that, owing to their generosity, in one year alone 655 girls have been shielded from the likelihood of a terrible fate.

It will be noted that 25 little children were found on the steamers travelling quite alone from the Continent. They came in batches of threes and fours, the very young children being in the care of the older ones whose ages, ranging from ten to twelve, hardly qualified them for the responsibilities of such a charge.

The Committee regret that any parent should be so little alive to the dangers, which at each step beset young girls and children, as to permit them to start out alone upon journeys of several days' duration.

They have brought this matter under the notice of a kindred Society in Hamburg, which is now busily engaged in forming branch Committees in the large centres on the Continent from where most of these girls come. It is hoped by this means to reach the parents so that they may be brought to realise the dangers to which they expose their children.

The cases (apart from the dock work) which demanded special investigation, special legal advice, police assistance, rescue proceedings or special help, numbered 95 as against 44 in 1898, 23 in 1897, and only 8 in 1896. It is difficult to classify these cases, but 40 were distinctly "trafficking" cases, while the remainder may be classed as "home" cases, and Anti-traffic

although some of them were not entirely free from indications of the traffic. Many of these cases were brought to the notice of the Association by parents or relatives who were in great distress because the girls were missing, or because they had been decoyed and led astray. It is not desirable to give the details of such cases in a public report. Some of them were inexpressibly sad. The monstrous cruelty with which these poor girls are often treated is almost incredible. This heartless treatment is especially noticeable in the trafficking cases. It seems to be part of the system preparatory for their exportation, to reduce the victims to a state of abject servility by violence, threats and misrepresentations. The Committee are happy to say that they have been successful in saving a number of young girls from moral and physical ruin. In one instance during 1899 several girls came to England to secure lucrative occupations temptingly offered. They were warned only just in time to prevent their falling into the hands of known traffickers. In another case a young Christian girl of Frankfort a/M had been abducted from home by a trafficker. Her mother had been purposely led to believe that her child was in London so she came here. The Authorities could give her no assistance, but she heard of this Association and came imploring for guidance and help. It was readily accorded. The Secretary of this Committee thoroughly investigated the case and was convinced that the missing girl could not have come to England. He succeeded in putting the mother on the right track. He directed her to Belgium, and there, in a small town, she found her daughter who had been robbed of all her clothes, and was in the absolute power of the trafficker. She was restored to her mother, and both have since written to the Secretary most appreciative letters of thanks.

In pursuance of the course foreshadowed in the previous report, the Committee corresponded early in the year with some of the leading and most energetic members of the Jewish Community in Liverpool, regarding the formation of a Society there. These gentlemen expressed their willingness to do what was asked, if they could be convinced of the necessity for a Jewish Protective Society in Liverpool, a matter of which they felt considerable doubt. A meeting of about 40 gentlemen was called and was addressed by the Chairman and Hon. Secretary, who went expressly to Liverpool to enlist the co-operation of the Jewish Community of that City. The thoughtful and searching interrogatories, to which these representatives of this Committee had to reply, bode well for the future of the Liverpool Society.

Work in the

Convinced by what was said and by the proofs given that an evil trade was being carried on unknown to them, yet in their very midst, they were roused to indignation and generous offers of funds and work were voluntarily made by many present. Liverpool would pay its own way, even assistance towards a dock agent's salary was gratefully refused. The Committee wish to thank all for the kind reception given to their representatives, and to express their appreciation of the efforts made by Mr. Louis S. Cohen (the present Lord Mayor of Liverpool), by the Reverend S. Friedeberg, Mr. J. Silverberg, Mr. Gabrielson, Mr. Rosenheim and Mr. Yates to initiate a movement which eventually resulted in the formation of "The Liverpool Society for Protection of Women," with Mr. Louis Salomon as its President, and the Reverend John Harris as its Hon. Secretary. Later in the year the Society formed a Ladies' Committee, Mrs. George Behrend was elected President, Mrs. Edward Yates Vice-President, The Lady Mayoress (Mrs. L. S. Cohen) Treasurer, Mrs. Albert Samuel and Mrs. Friedeberg Joint Hon. Secretaries.

This Committee are in correspondence with Jewish Communities in other towns and initiative steps are being taken for the formation of bodies similar to that just described, in Southampton, Portsmouth, Plymouth, Hull, and Grimsby. In November the Hon. Secretary visited Southampton, where he went over all the docks and interviewed the dock and city police as well as many other persons who sympathise with the work.

The Committee have been actively engaged ^{International.} in extending the international side of their work. It is most important that Societies should be formed in Europe, Asia, Africa, and in many of the States of North and South America. These societies are necessary if only to bring within the knowledge of all Jewish Communities the sad fact that a traffic in young Jewesses, for immoral purposes, is being carried on from country to country in constantly increasing numbers, and so to secure their co-operation in checking this deplorable evil.

The Committee, having ascertained that the traffic between Europe and Africa was assuming very serious proportions, communicated with the Reverend P. Bender of Cape Town, and Mr. Julius Weil, a member of the Cape Legislative Assembly. Both these gentlemen visited England during 1899, and were interviewed at great length on several occasions. Steps were also taken to reach the leaders of the Jewish Communities in all the large towns of South Africa. In this endeavour the Committee were most cordially seconded by the Chief Rabbi, Dr. Adler, who issued a circular letter to the ministers of the congregations in the chief town of the Cape Colony and Natal.

These measures resulted in the Association coming into communication with Cape Town, Durban, Port Elizabeth, Buluwayo, and Kimberley, while Mr. Julius Weil kindly promised to do all in his power to secure the co-operation of the Jewish Communities in Johannesburg and Mafeking. Societies were already in course of formation in Cape Town, Port Elizabeth, Kimberley, and Buluwayo, on lines carefully considered and suggested by this Committee, when the war broke out. As soon as peace is restored these efforts will be renewed.

Fresh information is constantly received showing the large number of Jewesses trafficked year by year from Russia, Poland, Galicia, and Roumania to England, Africa, North and South America, India, and the Levant. Much information on this subject was kindly given by Herr Gustav Tuch, and Dr. Ernest Tuch when they visited London last June. They furnished this Association with many cuttings from the German papers and voluminous pamphlets upon the traffic. The Hamburg Committee which they represented are working with unsparing energy and zeal to check this trade in girls.

The International Congress upon the White Slave Trade, to which reference was made in the Report for 1898, was duly held in London on the 21st, 22nd, and 23rd days of June. It was attended by a large concourse of private persons, and by delegates from Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Holland, Norway, Russia, Sweden, Switzerland, the United States, and the United Kingdom. These delegates respectively represented a Central Committee elected in each country by local societies already existing in the cities and towns of the different nations. Although these societies and Central Committees represent various Christian denominations, it was only necessary to hear what the delegates had to say, to be convinced that the question was one deeply affecting Jews also. Unfortunately a large portion of the traffic appeared to be in the hands of the Jews, and to count among its victims a very great number of Jewesses.

The International Congress.

As already stated in the opening pages of this pamphlet the Congress was in every way a marked success. It was initiated and most admirably organised by the National Vigilance Association. Ample representation was given to this Association, and an attentive hearing accorded to what it had to tell. The paper on the question contributed by the Hon. Secretary, Mr. Arthur Moro, which also contained a brief summary of this Association's work, was ordered to be printed and published in the volume, entitled "Transactions of the International Congress on the White Slave Trade." The book contains a copy and translations of all the papers read at the Congress and will have a considerable circulation at home and abroad. The Committees are happy to state that, since the Congress dispersed, the Central Committees in foreign countries have not been idle. They are gathering facts, evidence, and statistics, and are studying the complicated questions arising out of the differences that prevail in the legislation on the subject in various countries. In regard to this and to the work in general, activity is not confined to our Christian friends. Jewish Committees are in the course of formation in Poland, Austria, and Russia. In St. Petersburg a strong Jewish Association has lately been formed under the presidency of the Baroness Günzburg.

Returning to home matters the Committee ^{A New Member.} are glad to announce the election of Mr. George J. D. Lewis as a member of their body.

This opportunity is taken to publicly ^{Thanks.} express the thanks of the Committee for valuable assistance received during the year by their Secretary and Agents from the Steamship Companies and their Captains, Officers, and City Agents. Thanks are also cordially offered to the Dock Authorities, The Thames Police Force and Examining Officers of Customs.

Before closing their Report the Committee desire to recognise the unflagging zeal and perseverance of their Secretary, Dr. M. Friedeberger. The work he has on hand is most exacting and difficult, making demands upon his time at all hours of the day, and often of the night. They also wish to express their appreciation of the excellent services rendered by their Agents, Mr. Jacob Sternheim and Mr. Charles Solomon. Sudden expeditions, at most inconvenient hours, have readily been taken to Southampton and Liverpool, either for the rescue of girls, or in pursuit of traffickers. Whole nights have been given ungrudgingly by their Secretary, assisted by the Agents, to the investigation of urgent cases or in watching the departure of ocean steamers and railway trains suspected of carrying traffickers or their victims.

In concluding this Report the Committee are anxious to make their needs known to the Jewish public which rarely fails to give support to a good cause. The Association have certain funds at their disposal, but their use is strictly limited to International work and trafficking cases. The "home" side of their work is seriously hampered, and the success of some of their cases is jeopardised by want of larger resources. The Committee would urge their friends to bring this Association, its purposes and its work to the notice of others. Should the names of some of their acquaintances be absent from the list of subscribers they can, by gaining their sympathy and support, render a great service to the humane cause for which this Association exists, a cause which cannot but appeal to all Jews who love righteousness and by whom the fair fame of their race is held dear.

ARTHUR R. MORO, Hon. Secretary.

At a Meeting of the Gentlemen's Committee, held February 18th, 1900, the following resolution was unanimously carried, and was ordered to be appended to the foregoing Report:—

“That this Committee feel it both a duty and a pleasure to record their deep sense of the immense services rendered by the Honorary Secretary, Mr. Arthur R. Moro, to the work of the Association. Painful and slow as that work must necessarily be, surrounded as it is by difficulties and disappointments, Mr. Moro's courage and devotion never fail or waver. His continuous knowledge of every detail and case must involve an enormous outlay of time, energy, and self-sacrifice, for which his colleagues can only express their unfeigned gratitude and admiration.”

RESCUE WORK.

CHARCROFT HOUSE.

The Rescue Home.

It is impossible to enter the door of our home in Shepherd's Bush, without feeling thankful that such a place of refuge should exist, where, under wise and careful supervision, imperfect specimens of womanhood, imperfect morally and physically—may be cared for and helped.

Rescue Work.

No pre-conceived notions of how to deal with what are generally called rescue cases, are of use here. It is only by experience painfully gained, that our Lady Superintendent and the Matrons have learned how to work—and indeed their task is no easy one!

Our Inmates.

Many of the girls who are brought to Charcroft House are foreigners, untutored, uncultured, talking only their own tongue—ignorant of most things that they should know, knowing perhaps others that they should ignore. Miss Levi tells us that the greater number of the girls are entirely uneducated, many very ignorant and credulous; some English ones, is is to be regretted, have all the faults of their foreign sisters: they have perhaps been rebellious in their homes, or impatient of discipline. Some are very young girl-mothers, who can hardly understand their shame; others again have been deeply sinned against, and though they may have fallen are not necessarily corrupt. These girls of all sorts and conditions, are brought into close contact with each other, and have to become, for the time being, as one family.

At the close of the year, fifteen girls were in the Home. Here they are employed in household duties, which should fit them to become good and useful servants, or even in time to manage a house of their own—a dream of the future which it is well to encourage. Here they are busily engaged in the laundry, where hard and healthy work proves to be the best antidote to morbid thoughts, as well as the surest restorative for a low physical condition. The girls have plenty of active exercise and fresh air, for the house owns a small garden—large enough to be used as a drying ground for the linen and as an open-air parlour and playground in the summer. At this moment the little garden serves another use: namely to stimulate the loyalty of the girls, and the love of their own or adopted country, as the case may be. The train passes several times a day at the end of this garden, and more than once the Matrons have summoned the girls to witness troops departing for the war, and have read them a little lesson upon the devotion and bravery of our Englishmen, so that the girls have added their cheers to those of the other on-lookers who line every window down the road.

Instruction. They are taught to read and write and cipher, and take the greatest pleasure in their lessons, conning over their tasks when they have a few moments to themselves. They are also taught what they find more difficult—to speak the truth; to curb their fierce and sullen tempers, and to obey. Simple religious teaching is given them, and prayers are said for them and with them, in Hebrew and in English; prayers that some have probably forgotten; that others may never have learned, or that a few may hold as treasured home memories.

One of our foreign girls, who can neither read nor write, but who is fairly intelligent, in dictating to Miss Blüth a letter addressed to her Mother, said as follows:—

“You need not be unhappy about me, dearest Mother, for I am in a good home, with good Jewish ladies. Friday night and Shobbos are the same as at home, every Shobbos the lady reads the Bible to us, and we never have anything to eat without prayers before and after.”

Unless they are debarred by their state of ^{Religious Teaching.} health, they are allowed to attend the Synagogue services on festivals, and frequently on Sabbath mornings throughout the year. But God's Spirit works in many ways, and who can say that these poor girls may not have their hearts touched and their souls awakened by a sense of motherhood as well as by the patient care and devotion of which they are the recipients in Charcroft House.

Of the fifteen girls who are now under our ^{Cases of girls.} care, we have still the two feeble-minded ones: Celia and Rachel; both troublesome and helpless, and at times mischievous—they are never likely to leave us.

Leah, aged 16—has been with us for three years; she is still small and delicate, but a fair cook, a deft needlewoman, and quick at housework.

Bloome, a young mother of 17, has proved difficult to teach, for she is dull and has an unfortunate temper, which may make it impossible for her to keep a situation.

Sophie, aged 21, is trying to control her violent temper and is industrious, so that her outlook is brighter.

Jane, aged 23, with a child to support, is a fair cook, and may do well in domestic service.

Golda, aged 20, is very industrious, anxious to learn, and there is every reason for hoping that in time she may be able to support her child.

We have a second Leah, also aged 16, the child of wretched parents. She is fairly contented and industrious, but somewhat unsteady. Whether she will eventually do well for herself, will depend upon her being withdrawn for any length of time from evil surroundings.

Jette, though only 15, has been a mother, but has lost her child; she is industrious, bright and willing.

Harriet, aged 20, belongs to a most respectable family, but she was constantly running away from her home. She is untruthful and not persevering in her work.

Sophia, aged 16, is both lazy and untruthful; at present her record is a bad one.

Of the three girls, Geitel, Miriam, and Minna, aged respectively 17, 18, 19, we can at present say but little, as they have been so short a time in the Home.

Agnes, aged 20, had been brought up in one of Dr. Barnardo's Homes, from the age of 8 until 16, when she was placed in a situation where she fell; she was then sent first to a Christian Rescue Home, whence she passed from shelter to shelter. At last the Hon. Secretary received a communication concerning her case; Agnes declared she was a Jewess and begged to be taken into a Jewish Home. She was duly admitted, but proves to be slow and far from industrious.

Of the nine who left Charcroft House within the last twelve months:

Four came to us for shelter during their time of trouble and left us when that trouble was over:

One refused to remain with us at all:

One handed to us by the Police as a convicted thief, was to be returned after a time to her own country. The Board arranged for her departure, but she escaped from the boat when it was starting and has not been heard of since.

On the other hand, we are thankful to say that two girls are in service, doing well, and that one has been sent by the Board of Guardians to her father in New York.

We should indeed be sorry to imply that we have nothing but failure to chronicle, for not only did two of our girls earn the prize of a watch for their first year in service, but at the Chanuka Party, so kindly given by Mrs. Hayman, nine of our old girls, as we call them, were present, and one received a dress from the ladies of the Committee as a recognition of six years of service spent in one situation.

The Lady Superintendent and the Matrons.

Of the admirable work done by Miss Levi, Miss Blüth, and Miss Gibbard, we can only speak in terms of the greatest praise. They have fully earned the gratitude and confidence of the ladies of the Committee, and it is to their loyalty and devotion that the high standing of the Home amongst the Institutions of the community may be ascribed. The girls themselves, in spite of much that is disappointing and distressing, often evince nice feeling towards those who are in control of them. Grateful letters and visits from old girls are frequently written and paid after all connection has been severed with Charcroft House.

Miss Levi, who had been a member of the Blythe House Committee which has now ceased to exist, has taken her place upon the new Conjoint Committee.

Cost of Food and Clothing.

There has been an average of thirteen girls per week at Charcroft House during the last year, and the cost for food and cleaning materials amounts to the very small sum of 4/6 per head, a week: the Lady Superintendent and her Matrons sharing the girls' simple board. An outlay of £28.18/- has been spent upon the girls' clothing, which is moderate indeed, as it includes four complete outfits and a reserve stock kept in good condition.

The fares amount to £9.2/-, a very slight variation from last year's expenses, and the rewards and cash given to girls are again about £3.

Unfortunately we had a heavy doctor's fee Doctor's expenses. of £30 and upwards to pay, the result of some bad cases of blood poisoning that occurred early in the year, due to a defect in drainage, since attended to.

The Laundry has done well, for there is an The Laundry. increase of about £10 to record above the average of former years; the profits amounting in all to about £166, whilst the money spent on house and laundry repairs comes to £34.14/8.

The accounts for boarding out infants Infants. have been rather less this year, for after deducting the payments from the two Boards of Guardians and re-payment for another child, they have amounted to £64.

There have, as usual, been several treats Treats. during the year, which not only delight and enliven the girls, but which also tend to humanize them.

Lady Faudel Phillips, to whose constant kindness we must again revert, not only invited the whole party to her beautiful country home, but sent the girls back laden with fruit, flowers, vegetables, and presents.

Mrs. Hayman gave her usual and much appreciated Chanuka Party, where again each girl was presented with a gift, and where those who had left the Home and are now doing well in situations, were cordially welcomed.

Mrs. Moses gave a Purim Treat.

Mrs. Abrahams sent a provision of cakes for Passover.

Mrs. Singer gave a tea in honour of her son's marriage, and a present to each girl.

The Hon. Secretary sent the inmates for an afternoon to Kew.

There have been several presents made to the Home, which have all been most thankfully received.

PREVENTIVE WORK.

SARA PYKE HOUSE.

Our Lodging House.

Our work connected with this Branch has very largely increased during the last twelve months. The possibilities of protection and assistance that our Society hold out to those who are friendless and often helpless, are, we think, more valued than ever; at all events Sara Pyke House is well known in the East End of London, and many indeed are those who seek its doors—for advice, for work, or for help. We are literally crowded out of the house, and are looking anxiously forward to the time of removal, to those newer and larger premises, which, through the generosity of Mr. Pyke, we hope to take possession of before long. But larger premises will require additional furniture, and we must be prepared for additional expense. May we therefore hope for additional subscribers? Preventive work appeals to so many who do not look favourably upon rescue work, that we trust we may find kind friends who will help us to bear the additional strain that moving into new quarters and admitting a greater number of inmates will inevitably entail.

Our Matron, Mrs. Harris, is deeply interested ^{The Matron.} in the work, and has fortunately learned the secret of endearing herself to the strange and varying family that surrounds her. She is entirely deserving of our respect and confidence as well as of the affection of her charges. During the last year indeed, we could have had twelve girls as permanent lodgers; but it is obvious that with our limited accommodation it is impossible to provide for so great a number; for we must at all hours be prepared to admit girls who are constantly coming in, both day and night, between an arrival and departure of boat and train, or between two situations.

It is for the accommodation and protection ^{The Girls.} of the unprotected and of the travellers, that Sara Pyke House exists.

From January 1st to December 31st, 1899:— ^{Number of Girls who have passed through the Home.} 193 girls were admitted into Sara Pyke House, 59 in excess of the preceding year, and a total of 655 passed through the doors, each receiving the advice or help of which they stood in need.

The Committee are happy to say that they have been able to extend the protection of the Association and the hospitality of Sara Pyke House to 70 Christian girls, of whom 23 were temporarily lodged under the Matron's care, while the remainder were immediately passed on to the care of the T.A.S., or to other Homes.

Of the 193 boarders and lodgers :—

52 were sent to service.

23 were sent to friends in the provinces.

51 were sent to friends in London.

67 were sent abroad.

Of these, 127 paid the full fee for board and lodging, which amounts to 7/- a week; this is most satisfactory. 21 paid part, and 45 paid nothing.

Expenditure. Our expenditure has been rather more than last year, a further grant of £15 from the General Fund having been required. A glance at the Balance Sheet by those who take a kindly interest in our financial affairs, may prove instructive.

Cases. The following cases may be of interest to our readers :—

Frieda, aged 20, arrived in London in November, en route for America. She went with some other passengers to a Lodging House. She was poorly clad and hungry; being without means or friends, she was unable to procure proper nourishment and fell ill; so she failed to start in the ship that should have taken her to America. She wandered helplessly about the streets, eventually meeting with another Polish woman, who kindly fed and housed her for a couple of days. Meanwhile the shipping agent had grown alarmed at Frieda's non-appearance at the office for her ticket: he applied to the police, who advised him to make enquiries at Sara Pyke House. This led to a further quest, and finally the poor wanderer was found and admitted by Mrs. Harris, who clothed her, and cared for her. She remained for a month in the Lodging House, until she left for America.

Martha, another young Polish girl, arrived in an equally destitute and friendless condition; she was quite illiterate and had evidently never been under any discipline. She remained for some time at Sara Pyke House, where she learnt to read and write English, and to conduct herself with propriety. The improvement was quite remarkable, and she ultimately gave great satisfaction to her employers.

Rebecca, another foreigner, came over with an address of friends who were too poor to receive her. She begged to be allowed to remain at Sara Pyke House and go to her work from there, but could not be admitted at once, as there was no room at the time. In order, however, to accede to her wishes and those of others, two of the permanent inmates, who were in good work and well able to take care of themselves, were helped to remove into other and suitable lodgings. They, and other girls, whom we have been obliged to dismiss for similar reasons, have expressed their earnest hope that they may be re-admitted when we take possession of our new house.

T.A.S. From the Report of the T.A.S. we have pleasure in transcribing the following :

“ We have again gratefully to acknowledge the assistance at the Docks in London, rendered on behalf of the T.A.S., by the Agent of the Jewish Association for the protection of Girls and Women. Among the many whom he has helped, one was specially notable. A police officer brought to Sara Pyke House (the J.A. Home), a girl who had been lost for three days in London. She was one of those speaking a Russian-Polish dialect so difficult to interpret, and the officer had been advised to take her to a foreign club that she might make herself understood. He hesitated to do anything so risky, and a gentleman advised his trying Sara Pyke House. This was done, and there were two foreign girls staying there who could speak to her. Her delight at finding herself understood can be easily imagined. Attempts were at once made to trace her brother, who lived at Woolwich, but in vain. However, the next morning the poor girl was overjoyed to recognise the Dock Agent, who had been of service to her about ten weeks before, on her first arrival, and who had kept a record of her brother's address, which she had with her at that time. She was very thankful to be taken to her brother, and once more committed to his care."

It was thought well to give Sternheim, who had suffered severely in his health* from his many years of hard and unremitting toil, a colleague in his work. Solomon is now our second Dock Agent, and has so far satisfied his employers. The duties at the Docks make serious calls upon a man's patience, tact, energy and zeal. Besides which these duties have to be supplemented by further and no less important work; for example: addresses which the travellers bring with them, often illegible or imperfect, have to be verified—others which they have lost have to be discovered anew; relations have to be visited; questionable persons interviewed; doubtful houses cautiously entered.

* During our Dock Agent's serious illness, a sum of £10 . 6/- was handed over to him as a donation from members of the Association, and further, he received a Letter for the Ventnor Hospital.

We here wish to express very strongly our appreciation of what has been done by Messrs. Sternheim and Solomon in support of the Association. To Mrs. Solomon's charge will be relegated the doubtful or casual cases we may have to deal with.

The Russo-
Jewish Committee.

The Russo-Jewish Committee have again helped us to meet our financial difficulties with a generous grant of £100, for which we take this opportunity of cordially thanking them.

Dr. Michael.

The Hon. Medical Officer, Dr. Michael, has once more been most kind in giving trustworthy advice to our Matron concerning the girls who are under her care, for which we offer him our sincere thanks.

Treats.

The Sara Pyke House girls have had their share of treats. Lady Rothschild invited them all to tea at Gunnersbury Park, an entertainment which they shared with the girls of the Visiting Branch.

Mrs. Henriques kindly gave them a Purim Tea: Mrs. Hayman a bright Chanuka Party: Mrs. Birnstingl entertained them delightfully for a day in her country place.

Such treats are not only momentary pleasures, but they leave lasting and salutary memories behind them.

VISITING BRANCH.

Work done. A review of the work undertaken by our branch fills us with the sense of our increasing responsibilities, for we find that no less than 460 cases have passed through our hands during 1899, as against 221 in 1898.

Of these 460 :—

48 were placed in service.

31 were only passing through London en route for other destinations.

30 were passed on to the Gentlemen's Committee for investigation (12 proved satisfactory and 18 unsatisfactory)—a very encouraging result as compared with last year.

The remainder are either in trade or settled with responsible relatives.

New Workers. This large increase of numbers has of course involved additional work to all. Instead of one Dock Agent there are now two, to supply us with lists of new arrivals, and we have again been compelled to seek the help of more lady-visitors. We are glad to say that in response to a letter in the Jewish Chronicle from Lady Battersea, several new workers have kindly joined our Committee.

In order to keep more in touch with one another and with the work in general, and at the instigation of the Gentlemen's Committee, we have thought it advisable to institute Monthly, instead of Quarterly Meetings, which innovation has so far proved very successful and useful.

We have to thank Lady Rothschild and Mrs. Leopold de Rothschild for our summer treat, which was held at Gunnersbury Park, on June 28th, and which was an unqualified success. The girls, 35 in number, thoroughly enjoyed roaming about the beautiful grounds; and they were greatly appreciative of the splendid tea and refreshments so generously provided for them by Lady Rothschild.

They all met at Sara Pyke House, and before starting, prizes were awarded to nine girls, who had remained in service in one situation for a year or more; and presents were given to six inmates of Sara Pyke House who had been working steadily and deserved encouragement.

We cannot close our report without once again expressing our thanks to our visiting ladies for their indefatigable efforts and unfailing patience; and also to Mrs. Harris and to Miss Levi for the promptitude with which they always respond to our not infrequent appeals for their invaluable help.

DOMESTIC TRAINING HOME REPORT, 1898-1899.

In December, 1898, after a search extending ^{Premises.} over many months, suitable premises were at length found at 113, Adelaide Road, Chalk Farm, to which the Home was removed from Hemstal Road. The new house is bright and roomy, and in every way convenient.

On March 1st, 1899, the new house was ^{The Opening.} formally declared open. Lady Rothschild had kindly promised to open the Home, but owing to illness in her family she was unavoidably prevented from being present, and Mrs. Adler at the last moment kindly took her place.

Many useful presents were received on the ^{Gifts to the Home.} occasion of our removal to Adelaide Road from various friends of the Institution, and notably from Lady Rothschild and Mrs. Lebus, as also from the ladies of the Committee, all of which were very welcome and useful.

In February last, Miss Andrade entered the ^{The Matron.} Home as Matron, but after a short time it was found necessary to make a change, and Miss Solomon was appointed in her stead.

The under-
Matron. We had also to change the assistant Matrons several times, until we secured the services of Miss Craddock, who has served for many years in kindred Christian Institutions, and whose appointment appears to be entirely satisfactory.

The Girls. In the course of the year 1899, 25 girls applied for admission to be trained; of these 13 were accepted, and 8 girls have been placed out in service. Owing to the fact, however, that so many changes of management have been forced upon us, the work of the Home has been considerably retarded. This we confidently hope to see remedied in the coming year. During the past twelve months 176 applications from ladies requiring servants have been received. As we are quite unable to meet these demands, we intend in future to note the names of such Jewish servants who have not been trained in the Home, but who may apply to us for assistance in obtaining situations.

Presentation
Watches. Two of our girls have this year obtained the prize of a silver watch, for remaining twelve months in their first situation.

New Treasurer. We regret to have to announce the resignation as Treasurer, of Mrs. Henry Nathan, in consequence of her frequent and prolonged absence from London, but she still continues to take the active interest in the Home, which has been evinced by her ever since its foundation. Mrs. J. D. Moss has kindly consented to act as Treasurer in place of Mrs. Nathan.

To Dr. Gaster our thanks are again due for ^{Medical attendance.} his unremitting care and attention to our girls.

We have received with thanks, the annual ^{Gifts.} grant of clothes from the Jewish Ladies' Clothing Association through Miss Löwy.

The Committee tender their best thanks to ladies who have either sent or obtained for the Home various gifts of materials and clothing, and trust that in the future they will continue to help us. Though the work has during the last year been full of difficulties, we are pleased to be able to report that many of our girls are doing well in their situations, and some very special cases have found good and useful employment through our assistance.
