CLAUDE DELAVAL COBHAM,

COMMISSIONER OF LARNACA.

SECOND EDITION.

NICOSIA.

1889.

N O T E.

I HAVE attempted to register in these pages the titles of all books treating of Cyprus, its people, history, numismatics, epigraphy and language, of which I have found any trace. I have included the papers most important to antiquaries and linguists which have appeared in Magazines or in the Transactions of learned Societies; also the few books printed in the Island. I have added a list of local newspapers, of Parliamentary papers, and of the fugitive pieces which record a controversy, not yet extinguished, concerning the "transformations and migrations" of Cypriot antiquities purchased from Signor L. P. di Cesnola by the Metropolitan Museum of Art at New York.

Since the list was first circulated in June 1886, it has received corrections and large additions. For the most interesting of these I am indebted to the kindness of the librarians of the National Library at Paris, the Central Library at Florence, and that of St. Mark at Venice, to whom I offer my best thanks. But as a Bibliography it is still tentative, and must appeal to the courtesy of librarians and book-lovers generally to assist the compiler in making it complete.

I would again commend its use as a guide to the Committee of Management of the Cyprus Museum, and its wellwishers, in procuring books for the Library at Nicosia. It should not be beyond hope that some day, either by gift or purchase, all books here enumerated will be stored on its shelves.
